To view additional information, go to www.americanpsychiatricassociation.org.

Global Mental Health and Psychiatry Newsletter, a WPS and CLM Publication

Click here to view WPS e-newsletter archive.

Wishing You A Happy Thanksgiving Holiday!

Work Group on Access through Innovation

The importance of capturing possible unique burnout issues among women and minority groups.

Work Group on Psychiatrist Well-being and Burnout

Position Statement on physician burnout and developing toolkits for members to use in the coming months, there will be a number of articles on these issues in Psychiatric News. The work group is currently updating the APA future programming on well-being and burnout. In the coming months, there will be a number of articles on these issues in Psychiatric News. The work group is currently updating the APA future programming on well-being and burnout.

Finance

The Scientific Program Committee has completed the scoring of over 2,000 abstracts for the 2018 Annual Meeting, which will be held in San Diego, CA. The committee has designated 450 of these abstracts as good or better, which is one of the highest scoring years in recent memory. We encourage all members to attend the Annual Meeting, which will be held in San Diego, CA. The committee has designated 450 of these abstracts as good or better, which is one of the highest scoring years in recent memory. We encourage all members to attend the Annual Meeting.

IPS Mental Health Services Conference meeting, 1,890 healthcare providers had already been directly impacted by the other major natural disasters that have recently occurred throughout the year. The Board of Trustees voted to waive APA 2018 dues for members in Puerto Rico and the US Virgin Islands. APA will continue to urge members for help and then connect them to organizations whose focus is responding to the most without electricity, food, shelter, or clean water. APA will work to communicate this dire situation to all levels of government.

The APA, along with a group of five other medical organizations representing more than 500,000 physicians, released a joint-statement urging the immediate reversal of the Affordable Care Act and a return to the core values of human dignity, compassion, and respect for all Americans.

Our intent is to provide members with important news and information in an easy-to-read format. The 2018 APA Annual Meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 14, 2017. Early Bird Registration Deadline Tuesday, Feb. 6, 2018. Member Registration Begins: Tuesday, Dec. 5, 2017.

To view additional experience or witness a traumatic event but also in those who are indirectly exposed (such as healthcare providers). Posttraumatic stress disorder (PTSD) is a psychiatric disorder that occurs in people who have experienced or witnessed a traumatic event and may experience symptoms such as flashbacks, nightmares, and hypervigilance. The collection illustrates the history as well as the current state of mental health research and practice. WPS is working diligently on the development of the library as well as exhibits for APA's new hq building.

November course discusses a model for short-term disaster mental health support which can be applied to all clinical settings. The November Course of the Month - Disaster Mental Health: Practical Applications course is designed to provide participants with the knowledge and skills to effectively respond to mental health needs of the public after a disaster. The course will be available to all APA members starting November 15, 2017.

Two APA members represent the AGPs at the recent World Psychiatric Association (WPA) General Assembly in Amsterdam. Yavar Moghimi, MD, DGAPA, President of the WPA, shared updates on WPA's work and projects. This was followed by a question-and-answer session with other WPA officers and directors. Dr. Moghimi was joined in the Assembly by Richard Ratner, MD, DGAPA, Legislative Representative.

The American Society of Addiction Medicine (ASAM) presented a symposium at the Assembly on the interface between psychiatry and addiction medicine. The symposium featured presentations by ASAM members, including Dr. Moghimi and Dr. Ratner, on recent advancements in the field.

American Psychiatric Association Foundation (APAF) is working diligently on the development of the library as well as exhibits for APA's new hq building. The library will be an important resource for mental health professionals, patients, and the public. APAF is working to ensure that the library is comprehensive and up-to-date, and that it is accessible to all members.

The Work Group on Access through Innovation, provided the Board with an update on their activities. The ultimate goal of the work group is to improve access to mental health services for all Americans. The work group is currently developing a toolkit for members to use in their practice. This toolkit will provide guidance on how to improve access to mental health services for underserved populations.

The work group is currently updating the APA future programming on well-being and burnout. In the coming months, there will be a number of articles on these issues in Psychiatric News. The work group is currently updating the APA future programming on well-being and burnout.

The APA will continue to urge members for help and then connect them to organizations whose focus is responding to the most without electricity, food, shelter, or clean water. APA will work to communicate this dire situation to all levels of government.

American Psychiatric Association Foundation (APAF)

The Board of Trustees voted to waive APA 2018 dues for members in Puerto Rico and the US Virgin Islands. APA will work to communicate this dire situation to all levels of government.

The APA, along with a group of five other medical organizations representing more than 500,000 physicians, issued a joint-statement urging the immediate reversal of the Affordable Care Act and a return to the core values of human dignity, compassion, and respect for all Americans.